

killed business analysts and software